DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restriction

1. Applicant's election with traverse of group I, claims 1-15 in Paper No. 10 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the grounds that it is possible to search the claims of groups I and III together "due to the fact that the claimed system cannot be produced by a materially different product." This is not found persuasive because the claims were restricted as being distinct combination and subcombination groups, specifically because the combination does not require the particulars of the subcombination (limitations of the cam ring as recited in detail, e.g. pivotably supported in the inner cavity by a pivot pin), and the subcombination has separate utility. Additionally, regarding the restriction of the method claims, applicant argues that the method of claims 16-22 would result in the apparatus claimed in claims 1-15. However, it is noted that one-way distinction is required, and the method includes steps not required by the apparatus claims, specifically both providing a cam ring as recited in detail, and transmitting measurements from a control module to an actuator.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Specification

2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

3. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the first sentence should not begin "The present invention provides...". Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Objections

4. Claim 14 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Claim 14 is identical to claim 2, and therefore should be amended or canceled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

6. Claims 1-6 and 14-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Zagranski et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,623,250).

Zagranski discloses a pump comprising all elements as claimed, including a body having an outer ring defining an inner cavity, wherein the inner cavity further defines a pump suction path and a pump discharge path in fluid communication with the inner cavity; a cam ring (40) pivotably supported in the inner cavity by a pivot pin; an actuated cam formed on the cam ring; an actuator linked to the cam ring for moving the cam ring in a pivotable motion; and a control module (see, for example, column 4 lines 47-53) linked to the actuator. Note that regarding the intended use functional language limitations of the control module, it has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" or "configured to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

Art Unit: 3611

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claim 13 is allowed.
8. Claims 7-12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Semba (U.S. Patent No. 5,562,432), Oba et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,530,752), Watanabe et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,616,419), Konishi (U.S. Patent No. 6,619,928), and Kazuyoshi (U.S. Patent No. 6,155,797) disclose variable displacement pumps having cam rings as claimed.
